Name of event - Project Triple Benefit

Venue - Google meet

Date - 19/12/2020

Name of Organizers - Sakshi Govilkar, Svasti Sharma

Number of Participants - 80

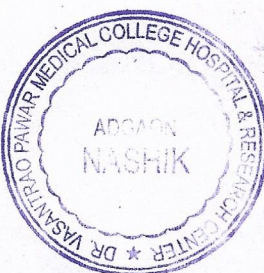

Summary of event - The aim was to sensitize medical students about various aspects of adolescent health including their right, nutrition, sexual health and effect of COVID19 on these. Overall the event was instrumental in giving the volunteers and participants a holistic approach of addressing adolescent health. It was very informative for the participants and organizers. We had activities to make the session interactive and fun! We asked the audience members to fill a TEENAGE BINGO, which included various activities they must have done during their school times. It was fun as the audience members shared their weird and crazy experiences. The audience members were then asked to guess the names of various Bollywood movies and songs in an activity named HOW STRONG IS YOUR EMOJI GAME.

Name of Organizers - Sakshi Govilkar, Svasti Sharma

Number of Volunteers - 3

Number of Participants - 10

Summary of event - Being second and third year students the major question we have is WHAT NEXT, so this event was effective in creating awareness about the possible career opportunities and clearing the misconception of limited opportunities after MBBS. We started the event with participant introductions, what they think are the possible opportunities after MBBS and how long do they think does it take to complete various courses. Then the volunteers and organizers disseminated the information provided by the national team through presentations and active discussions. The topic and the information were appreciated by the audience and we ended the session on a positive note.
