Participating in the IFMSA exchange program in the medicine department in Dr Vasantrao Pawar college is one of the most valuable experiences in my university life. It gave me a chance to absorb the excellence of a different education environment, as well as experience the clinical approach of medicine.

During my time I was fortunate to have had the chance to see many patients, to attend many effective lectures presented by great tutors, so not only I acquired medical knowledge and clinical experience, I also acquired new clinical skills due to the help of the great doctors in the department.

I was impressed by the excellent attitude of my tutors

I wanted to thank Dr kirloskar Madhuri who made sure to make this experience welcoming and educational and especially Dr tejale who always tried to give her best to help us overcome the language barrier and with her great support and knowledge we got the most out of this experience and also the residents and interns who welcomed us very warmly and helped us navigate this new environment All the experiences I gained make me ready to take on new challenges on both my academic studies and professional career in the future.
